News of More Unrest In Santo Domingo Today

The morning cables bring news that a revolutionary party has already landed at Monte Cristi, and that the inhabitants have risen in sympathy against Morales. That this sort of thing was anticipated, even if it did not exist several days ago, is clear from Minister Dawson's dispatch of last week, and again in the dispatch of yesterday, where Mr. Dawson writes:

"Under pressure of foreign creditors and domestic peril the Dominican government makes its offer."

Mr. Ade's, in his statement, said that the Dominican government is "being threatened by considerable dangers within," and later he emphasized the possibility of the United States endorsing the Morales government in his last sentence, "In the meantime the present proposal of Santo Domingo has for its object the maintenance of the status quo, so that if the treaty be ratified, it can be executed."

This idea is thought by some officials not to have been justified by the position of the President's order, and that possibly acting Secretary Ade oversteered the case.

Order of the President Establishing Receivership

President Roosevelt's order establishing the receivership was issued from the White House. In this statement he outlines the reasons for his course as follows:

"White House, Washington, March 28, 1935.
"To the Acting Secretary of State:
"I have carefully considered the following cablegram from Minister Dawson:
"Secretary of State, Washington:
"Under pressure foreign creditors and domestic peril the Dominican government offers nomination a citizen of the United States receiver southern ports pending ratification of the treaty, and that the receiver be administered under the award. Forty-five per cent total shall go Dominican government, 55 to be deposited New York for distribution of the proceeds. Creditors to agree take no further steps in the meantime, and receiver to have full authority to suspend importations, preferential contracts, Italian, Spanish, German, and American creditors, except the improvement, accept unconditionally. Belgium, French representatives will recommend acceptance. Some modus vivendi absolutely necessary. I am ready, if desired, start Washington, D. C., 28th, to explain details and modifications to plan obtainable; whole matter can be held open during my absence."
"DAWSON."

Directions to Minister.

"I direct that the minister express acquiescence in the proposal of the government of Santo Domingo for its receivership, pending the action of the United States Senate upon the treaty, to the end that in the meantime no change shall take place in the situation, which would render useless its consummation or bring complications into its enforcement."

"The Secretary of War of the United States will present for nomination by the President of the Dominican Republic men to act in the positions referred to, in both the northern and southern ports. The utmost care will, of course, be taken to choose men of capacity and absolute integrity and of good standing. The names collected from both the northern and southern ports, not turned over to the Dominican government, will be deposited in some New York bank, to be designated by the Secretary of War, and will remain in his custody until the Senate has acted."

"If the action is adverse the money will then be turned over to the Dominican government. If it is favorable, it will be distributed among the creditors in proportion to their just claims under the treaty."

"Meanwhile Mr. Hollander will thoroughly investigate these claims, including the claims of the American Improvement Company, and will report in detail all the information he is able to gather as to the amount actually received by Santo Domingo, the amount of indebtedness nominally incurred, the circumstances so far as they are known under which the various debts were incurred, and so forth."

"The Case Urgent.
"This action is rendered necessary by the peculiar circumstances of the case. The treaty now before the Senate was concluded with Santo Domingo at Santo Domingo's earnest request repeatedly pressed upon us, and was submitted to the Senate because, in my judgment, it was our duty to our fortunate neighbor to respond to her call for aid, inasmuch as we were the only power who could give this aid, and inasmuch as her need for it was very great. The treaty is now before the Senate, and has been favorably reported by the Committee on Foreign Relations. It is pending, and final action will undoubtedly be taken when Congress convenes next fall. Meanwhile Santo Domingo has requested that the action above outlined be taken; that is, she desires in this way to maintain the status quo, so that if the treaty is ratified it can be executed."

"With this purpose in view, I direct that the proposed arrangement be approved. It will terminate as soon as the Senate has acted one way or the other."
"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Mr. Ade's Statement.

Acting Secretary Ade made a statement also, in which he went a little further than the President in explaining the circumstances that had brought about the acceptance by this Government of the Dominican Republic's proposal of a receivership.

Mr. Ade maintained that the arrangement with Santo Domingo constituted a modus vivendi to be executed by that government and not by the United States. He held in addition that the new scheme was merely an extension of the States Government is collecting revenues at two Dominican ports and applying them to liquidating the claims of the Santo Domingo Improvement Company. It was claimed also by Mr. Ade that the pending treaty is not our treaty, but Santo Domingo's, and the receivership plan was merely intended to preserve the status quo so that "if the treaty be ratified it can be executed."

TREATY OF PEACE MAY BE ARRANGED HERE

Ambassador McCormick, and leaving to his discretion the manner in which he might bring it to the attention of the foreign office at St. Petersburg.

The overwhelming defeat of the Russian army at Mukden and Tieling, it is believed, caused the Russians to receive the suggestions in a more kindly spirit than they would have otherwise displayed.

Russia Outlines Conditions.

LONDON, March 29.—A news agency dispatch from St. Petersburg says that Russia has outlined the conditions under which she is prepared to negotiate for peace.

It is stated with every semblance of authority that thanks to the good offices of the United States and France the question of peace has assumed practical shape.

The foregoing is the latest addition to the peace talk.

Diplomats in Conference.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 29.—No official confirmation of the rumors of peace negotiations can be obtained at the foreign office or the embassies, but the frequent interviews between Count Lambsdorff, the Russian foreign minister, and the French ambassador, are evoking belief in the approaching cessation of hostilities remains deep seated.

The Novice Yermola, however, resents French claims to conclude peace at this stage, while the House Gazette attempts to prove that there is no connection between the failure of the French loan and the war.

Martial Law Proclaimed In Government of Livonia

ST. PETERSBURG, March 29.—A minor state of siege has been proclaimed in the Baltic government of Livonia.

A fire broke out yesterday in the grain warehouses of Nijni Novgorod and did enormous damage.

Recalcitrant Soldiers Shot or Imprisoned

ST. PETERSBURG, March 29.—The government is taking a firm stand against recalcitrant soldiers who have refused to go to the war.

At Platonovsk forty soldiers who had refused to proceed to Manchuria were tried by court-martial. All were found guilty.

The two ringleaders were shot. The statements made by Santo Domingo that that government is in sudden and great distress for money to pay its honest debts, and that there is pressure from foreign governments, of a severe and dangerous character, to compel a prompt payment of these debts.

Amendments to the treaty now before the Senate are said by these gentlemen to be pending and to have been recommended by the Committee on Foreign Relations. The treaty as amended has not been published, and I am allowed to speak of the amendments, if any exist, if there are any amendments it is quite obvious that they would not have been recommended by the committee. Foreign Relations, except by the votes of the majority, which is Republican.

The Senate Amendments.

"It is fair to suppose that these amendments if adopted would destroy the effect of the treaty in some important matters, extending even to the abrogation of all the preceding protocols and leaving the President without the support of law or any pretense of such support for putting into execution those protocols before they had been submitted to the Senate for ratification and before they had found their way into the newspapers."

"Why the Senate did not vote upon the treaty as amended or upon any amendment of it is a matter of which I am not sure. It seems to me that the treaty as amended would not be ratified. This action left the President in possession of two or three custom houses in Santo Domingo, with officers of the United States in charge of them collecting the duties. It left the award in favor of the Santo Domingo Improvement Company suspended in the air, if not revoked, and created for the President an embarrassing situation."

Agreement a Makeshift.

"Now it appears that a modus vivendi has been invented to tide over these troubles and it leaves the President in the military occupation of Santo Domingo to enforce illegal contracts with that government, until it shall be determined what shall be the fate of the Dillingham protocol and the first protocol of January 31, 1933."

"A modus vivendi is known to difficulties between two governments that have real controversies with each other. I have never heard of its being applied to the agreements of two governments that are in perfect accord as to the policy they were trying to accomplish."

Called a Euphemism.

"This seems to be a soft euphemism to ease the President into the execution of his illegal purposes until the Senate can decide whether they will ratify all that he has done or ratify the treaty that he has done before that body, which, if ratified, will revoke all that he has done. It is a queer situation, and rendered still more peculiar by the effort to get out of it by the use of a modus vivendi between two nations which have no dispute whatever of law or the absurdity of this situation will be easily seen by the public, and it will not enlarge upon it."

"This new device seems to be the suggestion of our minister, Dawson, at Santo Domingo, who is greatly alarmed at the alleged pressure of the creditors of Santo Domingo, and at the possible overthrow of Morales, the author of the present situation. It is his office by the presence of our ships of war around Santo Domingo. The evidence of lack of evidence to sustain Mr. Dawson's apprehensions as to the violent purposes of the creditors of Santo Domingo is wanting. He does not believe in the possibility of that body believes that these statements are true."

Scared by Bondholders.

"The present holders of the obligations of Santo Domingo are the men who are conducting this extraordinary pressure. Their investments were made upon the predicate that the United States would become the assignee in bankruptcy of Santo Domingo and work out the payment of these bonds to their great profit. If the United States gives up these ports, the prospect of their winning will be very much interrupted, and they are in a state of decided unhappiness."

"I do not believe that any government in the world has a purpose of compelling Santo Domingo to pay her debts under penalty of losing her independence. I do not believe that these speculators can induce their governments to become aggressive toward Santo Domingo."

Not Our Business.

"If I am mistaken in this, the plain way to prevent it would be for Santo Domingo to agree with those governments under a modus vivendi to delay action until the Senate has passed upon the treaty and it has been ascertained whether or not the United States would assume to collect the revenues and pay the debts of Santo Domingo at her request. Instead of that the modus vivendi, it appears, is made between the United States and Santo Domingo, whereby the United States instead of assuming to pay the debts of Santo Domingo, is to collect her revenues, put them in bank in New York and pay them back to Santo Domingo after allowing her 45 per cent for the current expenses of her government, in the event that the treaty is not ratified. What is to be done with the money if the treaty is ratified is not expressly surmised. It is intended that it shall go the way that is prescribed in the treaty."

Burden on United States.

"In the meantime the Government of the United States, without authority of law, is made the responsible collector and custodian of all the customs revenues of Santo Domingo under the constitution of Santo Domingo, and a disposition of the revenues of that government could not possibly be made, except by an act of their congress."

"Under the constitution of the United States no such obligations could be made legal or binding upon the United States as are contained in the modus vivendi without an act of our Congress. The whole transaction is simply a protection of the United States Government over the Dominican government in respect to the management of her revenues, and is entirely outside the pale of the United States Government of the United States. This is an effort to cover a transaction with the supposed diplomatic powers of the United States that can only be made valid through its legislative powers."

War Correspondent Captured by Japs

RUSSIAN PRISONERS' QUARTERS, SHICHUOKA, Japan, via Tien-Tsin, March 29.—Francis McCullagh, war correspondent, was captured with a Russian detachment, about 5,000 strong, at Tien-Tsin, near Tieling, on March 11, by the Japanese Imperial Guard.

"We marched through all of one terrible night," he says, "and at daybreak found we were surrounded. A heavy fire poured into us from all sides, and we were in a wide, bare valley, there was absolutely no shelter."

"We were fiercely shelled with shrapnel and our detachment was killed. Many officers were wounded. 'Escape is absolutely impossible.'"

20,000 Prisoners Arrive in Japan

TOKYO, March 29.—Twenty thousand Russian prisoners of war taken in the fighting about Mukden have already arrived in Japan.

Unofficial revised estimates of the Japanese casualties at Mukden and Tieling place the Japanese losses at 20,000. The flags which were captured at Mukden have been presented to the Mikado.

General Mayeda, who was wounded at Mukden, is dead.

Japanese Loan Is Oversubscribed

LONDON, March 29.—The entire issue of 15,000,000 pounds sterling of the Japanese loan was oversubscribed by noon today.

Great crowds besieged the three banks through which the loan was issued. The greatest anxiety was manifested to secure a part of the loan of its banks.

Similar scenes were witnessed yesterday afternoon when the prospectus for the loan was issued. Long lines of people struggled to the banks and special forces of police were needed to control the people.

MR. HAY'S HEALTH IS CONSTANTLY IMPROVING

The State Department is in receipt of the following cablegram: "Gibraltar, March 29.—Improving daily. 'HAY.'"

The dispatch is from Secretary of State John Hay, who has gone on a trip to the Mediterranean in search of health. It is the first news which the department has received from Mr. Hay directly since his departure. Officials are very much encouraged over its contents, as it indicates that Mr. Hay is in a cheerful frame of mind over his condition, and fully intends to resume his duties as Secretary of State should the improvement continue.
